

2014 MEERHOF SCHOOL KRUGER PARK TRIP

The 66th annual Meerhof School for the physically Disabled trip to the Kruger National Park was another great success. We met at the school at 5am on Sunday August 17 and after a hearty breakfast, provided by the school we set of on our journey.

Nine vehicles were used to accommodate the 27 children, some fairly severely handicapped and the 18 support staff needed to supervise and support the children. The support staff included Christine Mare the school organiser who did a marvellous job once again in ensuring that everything ran smoothly. Also on the trip were the school nurse, teachers and support staff from the school and Rotarians Allen Joss, Grant Adam and Aiden Robertson.

Day one included a 'brunch' en route kindly sponsored by the Wimpy in Nelspruit, and we all arrived safely in Skukuza .

The week included daily game drives, a visit to the James Stevenson- Hamilton Museum, the Rhino conservatory outside Skukuza and lunch at the local picnic spots including the public day visitor swimming pool. The competition between the teams allocated to the nine vehicles to spot game and to assist the children in completing the daily task sheets was fierce with Grant's team being declared the winners!
