

Lesedi Self Help Association

Following our previous interaction with Lesedi Self Help Association for people with disabilities, Joyce and Aiden delivered sheets, pillowcases, toiletries and toys from the Rotary Humanitarian Centre. Lesedi houses mainly disabled children and babies.

Right: Robert Sekwele, seen here with the caregivers, will be establishing a Rotary Community Corps at Lesedi

Most of the sheets had to be altered from double to single bed size and some duvet covers could be made into several more sheets. Two local seamstresses, jumped in and quickly did the necessary work. They would like to become more active in doing sewing and other needlework in the community but require a sewing machine and overlocker to do so. Can anyone help?

Below: Everybody got very excited about the new, clean bedding

Left: Aiden also brought two brand new wheelchairs for the two young children

Right: Everyone was excited that the old dilapidated wheelchairs were replaced

Right: Some of the toys obtained from the Rotary Humanitarian Centre were bigger than the children
